NEW LENOX BIKE owners underwent tests last week at the Oakview school grounds last week-end after having viewed films, hearing talks and reading booklets that dealt with safe cycling habits. Mrs. D. L. Buckler, chairman of the PTA safety committee who was in charge of the program expressed her gratitude to those who aided. She was disappointed, however, in the comparatively small number that took the course, less than 150. It is estimated there are some 600 bike owners in New Lenox. Special emphasis was placed on the fact that cyclists are governed by the same laws that apply to motorists. With vacation starting for school children there will be more bicycles on streets and highways and motorists are urged to be on the alert because too many bike riders ignore traffic rules. Programs such as the one conducted at New Lenox are held to remedy this situation.

J.W. Barr Wins Judge's Race By 2 to 1 Margin

James W. Barr, Joliet attorney for the past 35 years, was elected to the circuit bench in Monday's judicial election in the 12th judicial circuit.

The 12th circuit is made of three counties, Will, Kankakee and Iroquois. Until now the 12th circuit has been served by three judges. The growth of population and litigation has placed a heavy burden on the three judges and after years of endeavor the legislature was finally persuaded to increase their number to four.

Barr, running on the Republican ticket, was opposed in Monday's election by Angelo Pistilli, of Rockdale, who has been a practicing attorney in Joliet for the past 14 years. Barr carried all three counties and that he was popular with many Democrats was seen in the fact that he also carried Joliet township which has been giving the Democrats an edge in the past several general elections.

Barr won by approximately two to one. In the three counties he polled 16,520 votes to 8,428 according to the unofficial returns, for Pistilli. This was a light vote but then the vote is usually light in a circuit court election, even when a full ticket is in the field.

The winner ran strong in Frankfort township. The vote wasn't heavy but Barr was running on an average of six to one and he went quite strong in New Lenox township.

That he ran well thruout the circuit was not surprising, political observers pointed out.

Barrs enjoys a reputation of being a good lawyer and had the endorsement of practically all fellow attorneys. His father, the late George A. Barr, was a prominent figure in politics as was his uncle, the late Senator Richard J. Barr. The Barrs came from Wilton township.

There are 246 precincts in the three counties, 151 in Will, 58 in Kankakee and 37 in Iroquois.

The unofficial returns by counties show:

	Barr	Pistilli
Will	11,036	6,791
Kankakee	3,729	1,306
Iroquois	1,755	331

Barr will take office after the county canvassing boards have sent the returns to the secretary of state's office at Springfield and that official sends the winner a certificate of election. Then with such certificate and the posting of a bond Barr will take his place on the bench. It was believed he would be seated within the next 10 days.

RHEARSE FOR "Critic's Choice," a comedy that will mark the opening of the summer season of the Palos Village Players. In the male lead is Gordon Richards, of Mokena. The girl in the picture is Nim Edmonds, of Tinley Park. "Critic's Choice" is to be given June 26 at the Village Courtyard, 8200 McCarthy rd., Palos Park.

Palos Village Players To Open Season June 26

Rehearsals are now in progress by the Palos Village Players for their summer season at the Village Courtyard, 8200 McCarthy Road, Palos Park. Three plays will be presented by the Players during the summer months, "Critic's Choice," "The Girls in 509," and "Janus."

"Critic's Choice" opens June 26 with curtain time at 8:30 p.m. Director George Wennerberg has gathered a very competent and experienced cast headed by Beth Baird from Oaklawn, and Gordon Richards from Mokena. The supporting roles include Elaine Loula of Willow Springs, Nim Edmond of Tinley Park, John McNaughton of Hickory Hills, and Bill Neebe of Palos Park who is a student at Carl Sandburg high school. Ira Levin, the author, got the idea of writing the play "Critic's Choice" from a few lines of Walter Kerr's book.

"I have visions of a gag conference in which a slick character bounces in and bubbles over with: 'Listen, this guy's a dramatic critic, see? So his wife writes a play and he's got to review it. Take it from there.'"

Mr. Levin gaily took it from there and tells a story of a critic who lost one wife because he gave her acting a bad notice. He then reaches a point in his second marriage where he is faced with the duty of panning the play-writing efforts of wife No. 2. Added to this are complications of a young director enamored of his spouse, and a mother-in-law and a son with strategies of their own.

Shirley Hulse of Palos Park will design the sets and costumes which should assure the production of "Critic's Choice" to be one of the outstanding plays the Palos Village Players have presented.

Triple-R To Hold Second Horse Show For Charity

BY DORIS GERDEL

The "Triple R" ranch at Frankfort will hold its second charity horse show, June 22-23. This show this year is sponsored by the St. James hospital Auxiliary of Chicago Heights.

There will be many events for horse fanciers to enter or view. Some of the finest quarter horses in the U.S. will be present to try and win a part of the money being offered - an example is the open cutting which has an added purse of $500, or calf roping with an added purse of $100.

Registered quarter horse racing is also on the program, with an estimated purse of $2,000 for 2-year olds. Races will be held both days. If you have never witnessed a quarter horse race, you are in for a pleasant surprise in regards to the speed of these expensive animals.

There will be youth classes for riders 18 years or younger. These riders are quite serious about their showmanship, and it is fantastic how horse and rider appear to be "as one". A great deal of work and expense has gone into the training of these admirable horses, and the youth owning a horse has learned a great deal in his or her young life regarding respect for others, fair play and competition. Owning and caring for a horse, is one of the best insurances against juvenile delinquency.

A quarter horse sale will be held June 22 at 4:30 p.m. in the indoor arena. You might find a horse that fits your program. Refreshments will be served on the grounds, and there is ample parking and seating facilities.

"SPRING SONG" is the name chosen for the New Lenox Garden club's annual flower show and the committee in charge is busy with plans. The show is to be held in the F-H exhibition building at Fred Francis Field Tuesday and Wednesday, June 11 and 12 from 2 to 9 p.m. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. Any amateur flower growers, regardless of whether they are members of the club, are not only invited but urged to exhibit. Entries will be received from 8 to 10:30 a.m. June 11. Committee members here (l to r) are: Mrs. Rudy Stelter, outdoor chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Messenger, co-chairman of the show; Mrs. L.E. Frey, conservation chairman; Mrs. Grace Sweet, plant, fruit and flower guild chairman, and Mrs. Thorval Larsen, market chairman. Mrs. George Morrison, general chairman was unable to be present when this picture was taken. (Graphic Newspapers photo)

Mrs. Weathers has chosen as her committee chairman, Mrs. Joseph Kestel; spiritual development, Mrs. Emmett Stapleton; Mrs. Anthony Surma, school; Mrs. Harold Beebe, program; Mrs. Matthew Schweiths, social; Mrs. Brandon Elias, altar linens; Mrs. Vera Mansfield and Mrs. Cale Wilson, medical missions; Mrs. George Stanis, membership and Mrs. Albert Bilotti, publicity.

All the ladies of the parish are invited. The society will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 9 a.m. mass on Sunday, June 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cooper, together with Mr. and Mrs. David McMillan, enjoyed a weeks vacation at Mountain Home, Arkansas. They visited with friends and enjoyed fishing for bass at Bull Shoals.

Twenty-two Girl Scouts of Troop No. 76 and their leaders Mrs. Donald Ambuehl, Mrs. Lloyd Klein and Mrs. Florence Niethammer camped out recently in the back yard of the Niethammer home. Ten tents were erected for sleeping quarters. The girls prepared an outdoor supper and breakfast and provided a program consisting of songs and dramatics.

As it has been the custom in previous years the seventh grade class of the Carpenter street school entertains the eighth grade at the annual graduation party-dance in the school gymnasium, this year the party was held Friday evening with the theme "Carousel for Fun".

The program and decorations carried out the circus motif with ceiling and walls decorated in carnival colors; balloons and colored flags strung across the room and miniature carousels served as centerpieces on quartet tables. Special features were the merry go-round, ferris wheel, circus wagon and cages for the "wild" animals, which the seventh grade students constructed.

The program which was a parody on the typical circus performance began with the grand entry of performers marching thru the audience. Among the circus acts, with Kenneth Warning serving as ringmaster, were acrobats, kitchen band, boys vocal quartet, clowns, girls vocal sextet, baton twirling, hoop rolling, riding horses and hobo band. Class songs were sung by both grades and the eighth grade students read their class history, will prophecy and presented a gift to the school.

Miss Marla Fant, seventh grade president, introduced the following persons who spoke briefly: Miss Valerie Tuttle and Vaughn Whitfield, eighth grade presidents; James Ennis, superintendent; Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel, retired superintendent; and teachers, Mrs. Madeline Gregory, Mrs. Jeane Clark, Miss Mary Donahue, Coleman Rogers, Eugene Morrall and William Donaldson.

Refreshments were served by the mothers of the seventh grade with Mrs. Roy Richardson as chairman. Dancing to the music of the Cleff Tones concluded the evening. Miss Mary Donahue, class sponsor, supervised the arrangements.

Mary Gottlieb, a senior at St. Mary School of Nursing, Quincy, Illinois, enjoyed a nine day trip to Atlantic City, New Jersey, where the National Student Nurses convention was held May 10-13.

Besides attending the many meetings on various phases of nursing education, the group took in the many sights of that eastern sea-coast town.

A two day stopover at Washington D. C. on the return trip gave an opportunity for the group to sight-see. Highlights of this was a conference with Senator Douglas of Illinois.

Ruth Society of the Immanuel Lutheran church will meet Friday, June 7 at 8 p.m. Devotions by Mrs. William Glasse, topic by Mrs. Robert Geuther. There will be a surprise dessert and also secret pal revealing.

The Arbury Hills grammar school held its first independent graduation services last Saturday evening, June 1, at the Carpenter Street school of Mokena. Previously, the school had participated in joint graduation exercises with other rural schools at Lincoln-Way high school.

There were 24 boys and girls in the graduating class; the largest in the history of the Summit Hill school district.

The guest speaker scheduled for the evening for the commencement exercises was Joe Kruzich, administrative assistant at Lincoln-Way high school.

There will be no Summit Hill Parent-Teacher group meeting next Thursday, since the organization is in summer recess. The next regularly scheduled meeting of the organization will be held on Sept. 13.

The all-school picnic, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Group, was scheduled to be held at the Mokena Community Park last Sunday, June 2. Games and races were on the agenda for both young and old.

The First Nighters will hold their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Dickerson of 9528 West Hickory Street, tonight, Thursday, June 6, at 8:00 p.m.

The Mokena V.F.W. unit challenged the Arbury Hills men to a seven-inning softball game at the Mokena Community Park on Sunday afternoon, May 19. The Arbury Hills men won by a lopsided score of 17 to 6.

At 8 o'clock tomorrow night, Friday, June 7, is the time and date for the Cub Scouts monthly pack meeting. This is the delayed May pack meeting. It was scheduled for June 7, in order to give some extra time so that the Cub Scouts could put on a children's circus. The boys will provide all the activities for the evening. The boys mothers had the job of making the costumes.

The pack meeting is to be held at the Scout-House, (the old school house, one and one-half miles east of route 45 on 191st street).

The summer session of the kindergarten began yesterday, Wednesday, June 5. It will remain in session until Aug. 2. This kindergarten is for those children residing within the Summit Hill school district who will be eligible to enter first grade in September.

The Arbury Hills Boys Baseball league is hard at work practicing for the season's start. The four teams organized will have intra-mural play for several weeks to get sufficient game practice. In late July or early August an attempt will be made to schedule games with teams from the surrounding areas.

Watch for the car parade of boys to announce the first intramural game.

The eighth grade of the Arbury Hills school had their graduation dinner at Valley View Farm restaurant. Included in the guest list were the room mothers and their husbands, Mr. Reeves, the eighth grade teacher, and H. James Wrath, the superintendent of the school and his wife.

Derwinski, in accepting his award, stated: "I am grateful for this recognition accorded me, since it has been my creed as a public official to serve my constituents in accordance with what I consider to be sound, progressive philosophy of government. Dale Robertson

Film Cowboy To Star At Horse Show

A famous film cowboy hero, also famed for his real-life horsemanship, will "guest star" at the Triple "R" Charity Horse Show, June 22-23, sponsored by the Auxiliary of St. James Hospital of Chicago Heights.

He is Dale Robertson, known to millions of fans as Jim Hardie of the Television series, "Tales of Wells Fargo."

His scheduled appearance was announced by Thomas C. McKay, owner of the Triple "R" Ranch in Frankfort.

They said Robertson will be at the Ranch both days of the show to greet visitors and sign autographs. Hospital Auxiliary members are now selling tickets for what has been recognized as the Midwest's top quarter horse show.

Tickets are $2 for adults and 50 cents for children and can be purchased at the gates of the Triple "R" Ranch both days of the horse show.

McKay said over 400 of the nation's top quarter horses will compete in 50 events including halter classes, match racing, barrel racing, roping and cutting. Four grand champions will be named under judging approved by the American and Illinois Quarter Horse Show Associations.

James J. Grumley, Joliet certified public accountant, auditor for the village of Frankfort, was named chairman of Will county chapter of American Red Cross at its annual meeting in Joliet.

Grumley succeeds Constantine A. Macris of Joliet who served two successive terms as chairman.

Other officers were re-elected. They are Donald F. Dornick of Caterpillar Tractor Company and A. E. Greenberg of Crown Rock Asphalt Company, vice-chairmen; Vance Cummins of Joliet Federal Savings and Loan Association, treasurer, and Mrs. Warren L. Wood, secretary.

Mrs. Wood, of Plainfield, also was re-elected to the board of directors. Other directors elected are Lloyd Berlin of New Lenox, Charles Swanberg of Mokena and Rev. Charles Chakovsky, Rev. Raymond J. Dempsey, Barton Juell, Ervin P. Lueken, Ralph Murphy and Mrs. Ernest C. Osborne, all of Joliet.

Mrs. Frank Clow, treasurer of Wheatland branch of the chapter, received a pin symbolizing 45 years of volunteer work for Red Cross. Other volunteers received recognition for 25, 20, 15, 10 and 5 years of Red Cross activity.

A parade of volunteers, with one person representing each of 11 branches of Red Cross voluntary service, commemorated the 100th anniversary of the founding of Red Cross, being observed this year throughout the world.

Mrs. Gunhild McAllister, Chicago Heights registered nurse, was guest speaker. She described her work last summer as a member of an emergency Red Cross-MEDICO team in Algiers.

Hints For Homeowners

ASSOCIATE FARM ADVISER

Is there moss showing in your lawn? The presence of moss in lawns can be due to a number of factors, all of which can be traced to environmental or soil conditions, that are detrimental to the growth of turf grasses.

If moss is present in a lawn it is a good indication that something is preventing the grass from growing. The most common factor is depleted soil. Moss is much better adapted to growing in poor soil than grass. Proper fertilizing will help the grass to grow and eliminate the moss.

Poor drainage can also be responsible for moss. Low spots in the lawn should be filled in to provide natural runoff of water. In some cases, tile will be necessary to get proper drainage.

Excessive shade is a factor which is common in city lawns. Thinning tree branches can be helpful, but a grass such as creeping red fescue or Poa trivialis which is adapted to shaded areas should be sown.

Few lawn grasses grow well in acid soil. The only way to tell if soil is acid is to have it tested. Contact our office at 201 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, for information on soil testing. If the soil is acid, the results of the test will give instructions on how to correct the situation with lime.

In areas where there is a dense mat of moss in the lawn, it should be killed by spraying with a 5 percent of iron sulfate. This will stop the moss from growing while the lawn grasses become established provided that the factors responsible for the moss are remedied.

Lawn weeds are particularly bad in some areas this spring. Prompt treatment now, while the grass is still growing and before the weeds get too big, will help prevent bare spots in the lawn when the weeds die.

Broadleaf weeds such as dandelions and plantain can be killed with 2, 4-D. If chickweed is present, use a combination of 2, 4-D and 2, 4, 5-T.

Crabgrass seed is just starting to germinate. Pre-emergence crabgrass killers are still of some value if applied now. Once the crabgrass is up, use a weed killer containing Sodap.

Several weed killers now contain 2, 4-D, 2, 4, 5-T and Sodap. Both granular and liquid materials are available. If properly applied, either material works well. When using granules, be sure the lawn is wet so the material will stick to the leaves of the weeds.

'Y' Offers 7 Weeks Of Day Camp

The Palos - Orland YMCA's "Triple Y" summer day camp for area youngsters 7 thru 12 years of age will get underway June 24. The seven-week fun packed program is available in its entirety or for periods of two or three weeks.

The day camp site again will be Camp Palos, located near 123rd St. on Will-Cook road in Palos Park. Both instructed and recreational swimming is included in the program using the Carl Sandburg high school pool and the Southwest Suburban YMCA pool.

Campers will be picked up daily by bus at schools nearest their homes where four or more children are registered. Camp Director Paul Krause, program secretary of the Southwest Suburban YMCA, indicated that there is a maximum of 333 camper periods available throughout the summer and that 135 reservations have been received to date.

Further information is available at the Palos-Orland YMCA office located in the Jewel Annex in Palos Heights or by calling GI 8-3888.

LW Alumni Dance

This years dance will be sponsored by the combined classes of 1957-58. Letters will be sent to the alumni, urging them to attend the dance.

Former New Lenox Man And Kansas City Girl Married

Miss Carol Jean Hulcher, Kansas City, Mo., became the bride of E. Everett Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon E. Long, Virden, formerly of New Lenox, in a double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 13, at the First Methodist church at Virden, Rev. Bert Lancaster officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Hulcher, Virden, was given in marriage by her father. She chose a sheath gown of antique silk satin featuring a sweetheart neckline, three quarter length sleeves and a chapel train.

Mrs. Floyd T. Stewart, sister of the bride, of Birmingham, Ala., was matron of honor, Mrs. W. Paul Cooper, Miss Donna Hulcher, both of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Lyle Hunsley, Springfield, sisters of the bride were bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaid was Beth Ann Stewart, Birmingham, Ala., niece of the bride. Flower girls were Deborah Reichert, Auburn and Janis Fahs, Mount Morris, cousins of the groom.

Eugene Fahs, cousin of the groom, Mount Morris, served as best man. Groomsmen were Fred Reichert of Auburn; Derrell Darling of Mount Prospect; Stephen Davidson of Virden, cousins of the groom, and Norman E. Hulcher II, brother of the bride. Acting as ushers were Floyd T. Stewart, Birmingham, Ala., W. Paul Cooper, of Phoenix, Ariz., Lyle Hunsley; Arthur Hoffmeister, Springfield, Charles Hammond, of New Lenox and Richard Hammond of Joliet.

Mark Reichert of Auburn, and John Fahs of Mount Morris, served as ring bearers.

A reception was held in the church following the ceremony. The couple took a trip through the southern states.

Mrs. Long graduated from Virden high school in 1961 and Central Technical Institute in Kansas City, Mo. Since then she has been employed by Braniff International Airways in Kansas City.

Mr. Long graduated from Lincoln-Way high school in 1958. He has attended Eastern Illinois university and Southern Illinois university as an art major. He will study at Kansas City Art Institute, specializing in interior design and decorating.

The couple will be at home at 4737 North Highland st., Kansas City North, Mo.

Now Boating's Here How Is Your Insurance?

The boating season is here for Chicagoland and all types of sailboats, outboard and inboard powered watercraft, canoes and rowboats are navigating the lakes and streams nearby.

Many suburbanites may have the popular "homeowners" package insurance policy and the Insurance Information Institute reports this policy provides some property damage coverage for watercraft and affords liability protection for the boat owners.

This latter coverage is important, the I.I.I. says, since the waterways are becoming almost as dangerous as the highways and a boating enthusiast - like the motorist - needs financial protection against his own negligence.

The homeowners policy affords up to $500 of insurance against loss to a boat, motor, trailer or accessories resulting from fire, theft, vandalism and other perils. Loss caused by windstorm or hail is not covered if the boat was left out in the open, with the exception of canoes and rowboats.

The comprehensive personal liability section of the homeowners policy, which may also be purchased separately, covers bodily injury and property damage liability arising out of ownership, use and maintenance of the boat and outboard motor. The amount of liability coverage would depend upon the policy purchased.

Included is medical payments insurance, which covers medical expense for each person, other than the insured and his family, who is injured or becomes ill as the result of an accident while in, on or boarding, or leaving the boat. The insurance also pays all reasonable expenses for necessary medical, surgical and dental services rendered within one year of an accident.

The I.I.I. said outboard motorboats not in excess of 10 horsepower and inboards not in excess of 50 horsepower are covered at no extra premium charge, as are rowboats, canoes and small sailboats. Additional premiums are charged for larger outboards and inboards and sailboats 26 feet or more in length.

Many boat owners need more insurance against property damage to their own boats than afforded in the homeowners policy. Several specific watercraft policies are available.

These policies vary in number of perils covered. Common perils covered might include insurance against fire and lightning, windstorm while on land, collision involving the boat trailer and theft of the boat or motor.

Also available is liability coverage for other property damaged by the boat owner, protection against loss of or damage to watercraft accessories and insurance against "perils of the sea."

Some policies exclude collision coverage while the boat is being used for water skiing unless there are at least two persons in the boat. Some states, including Illinois, have laws requiring two or more occupants in watercraft pulling a water skier.

The I.I.I. points out that the amount and scope of the boat insurance depends upon the amount of premium the boat owner is willing to pay.

Because of the variety of coverages available, the I.I.I. suggests that boat owners contact an independent insurance agent to find what policy is best suited to their needs.

Scientists Elect New President

Mrs. Helen Wood Bauman became the new president of the Christian Science Church last Monday.

Her appointment was announced in Boston before several thousand members assembled for the annual meeting at their world headquarters in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Mrs. Bauman is editor of the denomination's religious periodicals, and will continue in that position while filling the one-year term as president. She first began her service to the church as an organist at St. Joseph, Mo., after studying music for a number of years in Boston and London. Since then, she has served in many capacities, including teacher and practitioner of Christian Science.

Two Chicago men became official lecturers on Christian Science. It was also announced. The appointment of Paul A. Erickson and Roy J. Linnig was announced by The Christian Science Board of Directors during the Church's annual meeting in Boston.

Both men gave up business management positions during the years following World War II in order to devote their full time to the public practice of Christian Science healing.

Vo-Ag Students Pick Of Crop In Farm Colleges

BY ROBERT VAN RHEEDEN
(LINCOLN-WAY VO-AG INSTRUCTORY)

Typically, the most able students entering the University of Illinois college of agriculture are those who have studied vocational agriculture in high school.

This is one of the findings of Alfred H. Krebs, professor of agricultural education, University of Illinois, in a 1961 success study of students enrolled in the college of agriculture.

Krebs found that student drop-out in the college of agriculture was least among students who had the most vocational agriculture in high school. His study indicates that taking vocational agriculture maintains student interest in agriculture.

High school vocational agriculture offers basic college preparatory training for students who plan to be tomorrow's college-trained agricultural leaders and scientists. Dale Meyer, Ron Heisner, Robert Manzke and many others are recent graduates from Lincoln-Way who studied vocational agriculture and are now studying agriculture in college.

Opportunities for college graduates in agriculture have never been greater. The fields of agriculture industry, business, education, research, communications, conservation, recreation, and services are growing fast, with new jobs and new opportunities developing each year.

Shortage of agriculturally trained college students is expected to continue for a long time. For example, right now there are two jobs for every college graduate in agriculture; there are more than two jobs for every graduate in agricultural education.

Tomorrow's agricultural leaders and scientists get a chance to develop, use and perfect abilities in leadership in vocational agriculture and the Future Farmers of America programs.

(Next week, Robert Van Rheeden, vocational agriculture teacher, Lincoln-Way high school, will tell how vocational agriculture and FFA helps our schools build better citizens for tomorrow.)

Army Reserve Center At Joliet Is Given A Name

The new army reserve center, located at 2709 McDonough st., Joliet, has received a name. Word was received from the Commanding General, XI U.S. Army Corps, that approval had been given to name the new facility the Louis Joliet U.S. Army Memorial Reserve Center. The name will become official following the dedication ceremony planned for sometime in September.

A name for the new center had been under consideration since March 28, when a board met in the conference room at the NI-Gas Co. officer, under the leadership of A. Barton Juell, Col., USAR-Ret. The board received nominations, and after due consideration, submitted the above name for approval.

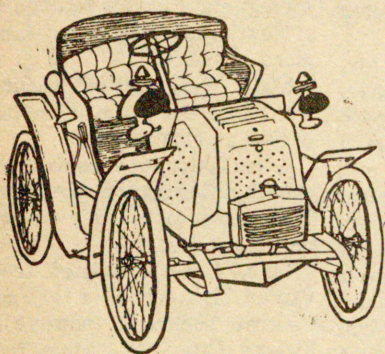

Besides Col. Juell, who is also state director of the Reserve Officers Association, other members of the naming board were: Arthur H. Biederman, Will county service officer, Illinois Veterans Commission; Willard Blood, Major USAR, Will county corner and former president of the Will County Chapter of ROA; William M. Bollig, past commander Cantigny Post VFW; Edward J. Daniel, finance officer, Harwood Post #5, American Le-Vacation Bible School began Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and will continue each morning through June 14. If you child has not registered, there is still time for part of the course. The day's work ends about 11:45. Light refreshments are served in mid-morning.

Staff Sgt. James Burnworth and family have been guests in the Earl Burnworth home and with other relatives in the area for a few weeks. Mr. Burnworth expects to leave for Viet Nam on June 9. Mrs. Burnworth will live in a Joliet apartment during his overseas tour of duty. Silas Burnworth will spend the summer with his grandparents, the Earl Burnworths.

Mrs. Beatrice Wilson of Chicago spent the weekend in the George Burcham home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Reed enjoyed a four day Memorial weekend from their school duties in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burch and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Anderson went to Footville, Wis., Saturday where they attended the wedding of Miss Nancy Woodbury and Clarence Hoesly. Nancy is the granddaughter of Ralph Burch. She finished a teacher's course at Wisconsin State College at Whitewater last week. Mr. Hoesly taught during the past year and in September they will both teach at Hazel Glenn, Wis.

Several men interested in Homer School, 33-C, spent Memorial Day morning mounting the new name-plate on the building. Money for the solid aluminum letters was furnished by the class which is graduating this year. They earned the gift by numerous projects which they have been sponsoring during the past year.

At a well attended meeting of the Brooks Cemetery Association held at the cemetery Thursday afternoon, an interesting program was given as follows: Posting of Colors by Girl Scout Troop 85; prayer by Pastor L.V. Coons; group singing of "America," directed by Mrs. John Hollister; reading, "Memorial Day" by Beverly Burcham; song, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," by Linda and John Hollister Jr.; Susan Reed and Linda Shepherd; reading, "To Our Country's Heroes," by Evelyn Burcham; accordion solo, "God Bless America," by Linda Shepherd; patriotic address by Pastor Coons of the First Assembly of God Church, which has recently relocated on Rte. 7, Homer twp.; group singing of "God Be With You"; retiring of the Colors by Girl Scouts accompanied by "Taps" played by Steve Karwoski.

The business meeting followed the program. Ralph and James Tilsy were appointed to arrange next year's program.

On Sunday evening, an inspirational program was held at Homer Church, when Rev. Ian Brown of Marley was the visiting speaker. Rev. Cox presided and special music was furnished by a trio from the Homer choir: Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Hollister and Mrs. White. Flags were distributed to be placed on soldiers' graves. There was some discussion as to whether it would be better to hold this union meeting at some other time, since that particular day (the Sunday preceding Memorial Day) seems an especially busy one, making it hard for many to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burnworth spent Memorial Day with relatives at Sidell.

Guests in the George Burcham home on Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Langmeyer and family of Tinley Park, Mr. and Mrs. James Bethell and children of Joliet, Mrs. Edna Mergler and Jim Burcham of Decatur.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burch attended a potluck dinner sponsored by the Green Garden Mutual Insurance Co. at its hall last Sunday afternoon.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Sonntag-Burgess-Wylie funeral home in Joliet for Mrs. Cora L. Nielsen, age 81, who died Sunday, May 26, at the Lincoln Nursing Home, Joliet, after a long illness. Born in Waukegan, she lived in Joliet 25 years before moving to Parker Rd. in Homer twp. five years ago. Her husband, Arthur, died in 1960.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Woodrow Nelson of Chicago; a son, Arthur of Mokena and a sister, Mrs. Clara Trepantier, of Waukegan.

The Rev. Edward Brewster was the officiating clergyman with burial in Oakwood Cemetery.

A graduation party was held in the Owen Doyle home Friday evening following graduation at 33-C, for the 20 graduates who received eighth grade diplomas at a well planned ceremony in the all-purpose room of the building, which was beautifully decorated in the class colors of red and white.

On Monday evening about 15 Homer students graduated from Lockport High.

The instructor course will begin June 10 and end June 21. The course for water safety aides will begin June 17 and end June 21. Both will be held at the Joliet Beach Club, running from 9:00 a.m. to noon. Twenty-nine are already enrolled for the instructor course and 31 for the water safety aide course, said Mary Frances Kennedy, director of safety services for the chapter. Last year 72 instructors and 76 aides, trained by Red Cross, assisted more than 4,000 young people and adults in the learn-to-swim classes at Will county pools and beaches.

Anyone interested in either course may secure more details by telephoning the Red Cross office, Joliet, 722-5007. To be eligible for the instructor course, applicants must be at least 18 years old and hold current Red Cross senior life saving certificates. Water safety aides must be between 14 and 17 years old and hold junior or senior life saving certificates.

CALF ROPING is one of the things people will see when they attend the Triple R charity horse show June 22-23. And keep an eye on the horse. The rider, of course, is the one who throws the rope and then piles off to get the calf's feet tied in as few seconds as possible but horse has an important job too and most of those you see at cutting horse shows know just what to do and when to do it. Note the taut rope this horse is maintaining. The rider's hands are in the air to let the judges know he has completed his job. The horse knows it too and in a second will ease off a bit. Those calves, by the way, are pretty hardy.

State To Widen, Surface Frankfort's White St.

White street in Frankfort is to be widened and resurfaced from its junction with U.S. 45 and 30 to Nebraska street, the Illinois highway department informed the village board this week. The work is scheduled to be done in August.

Last year Mayor George Sangmeister reported to the village board that he had been assured by the highway department that White street, a state aid thoroughfare, was scheduled to be repaired this year.

At Monday night's council meeting the trustees adopted resolutions setting up that the state would do this job without any cost to Frankfort. The only thing required of the Village is the adoption of two ordinances. One of the measures prohibits the introduction of sanitary sewerage into a storm sewer the state plans along White st. The other prohibits parking along the improved surface of the street. Parking will be permitted on the shoulders, however, it was stated. The White st. pavement is now 18 feet wide. When improved it will have a 24-foot width. The overall width is 66 feet. The surface will be raised three inches.

The New York Central will have to move some signals raise its tracks to conform to the new grade on White st., it was explained.

Village Attorney Albert H. Krusemark and as many of the trustees that can be to attend two Illinois commerce commission hearings at Chicago this month.

There is a hearing tomorrow morning (June 14) at 10 o'clock on the request of the Gold Star bus line to suspend operation for the next five years. The village already has filed objections but will amend them in the face of the application for a suspension of service with leave to resume in five years. This limitation, Krusemark pointed out, could result in keeping any other bus line out of the area without any assurance that service would be resumed. If the line can't be kept in operation the village board want the service to be terminated rather than suspended.

Mayor Sangmeister said he had received a number of complaints about the proposed stoppage of bus service and that residents along the route have been writing letters of protest to the ICC. The mayor expects to testify at the hearing.

The other hearing is set for 2 p.m. on June 20. The Illinois Bell Telephone Co. has an application on file asking for authority to enlarge the local flat-rate for the calling area of the Frankfort exchange. Under a proposed change Frankfort would have toll free connections with Joliet, New Lenox, Chicago Heights, Peotone, Monee, Manhattan, Mokena, and Tinley Park. Now Frankfort can call only Mokena without toll.

The village council is for this move. Signs limiting automobile speed to 20 mph in Connecticut Hills are to be erected by the village at the request of residents of the area. The people living there would like more street lights too and Mayor Sangmeister told them he would ask the Public Service Co. to make a survey and recommend the number and location of lights.

A request by a delegation from Lincoln Meadows to be permitted to develop a park there was referred to the committee headed by Trustee Daniel Hecht, Wayne Way, who acted as spokesman, pointed out that the McIntosh Co. had set aside three lots for use as a park by the village.

The tract is 300 by 250 feet and bounded by Locust, Johnson, Willow and Elm streets. The Lincoln Meadows group will take care of such items as grading, tree purchasing and planting and laying out a small softball diamond. All they ask of the village is permission to go ahead and a promise to keep the grass mowed. They propose to call it Frankfort Neighborhood Park, and plan a picnic area in one corner.

Frankfort Airport Gets Another O.K.

Objectors to the proposed airport south of Frankfort on Center rd. fared no better on the rehearing of the case than they did on the original. John Arnold, who filed the application for a permit to operate a commercial airport on the fringe of Frankfort, saw it approved at two hearings last year, one in July and the other in November.

In February, 1963, persons opposed to the presence of an airport at the location--neighbors of the area--obtained a rehearing of the issues.

Now the state department of aeronautics has given its decision--approval of the application and re-application of last year's orders. The opponents to the airport "failed to present a good and sufficient basis to deny a certificate of approval," the new order reads.

125 Entries In Charity Horse Show

BY DORIS GERDEL

There are 125 entrants in the Triple R horse show at this time. This show will no doubt become one of the largest shows in the mid-west.

Hectic days are ahead for the show committee, as we want to ascertain that all "runs smooth" the days of the show. Many exhibitors have trained or purchased new horses this year and they are more than anxious to "show" these animals. Most owners secretly think HIS horse is just a bit better than his competitor. But--here again, the judges decision is final. A few exhibitors return home a bit deflated, while others leave the show ring quite elated. (They have a champion in the making.)

Breakfast, lunch and supper may be purchased on the grounds. Food will be served by the St. James Auxiliary. The men are in charge of preparing the barbecued chicken.

Saturday evening a change will take place. The cowboys and cowgirls will change from their western attire to party clothes, as a dinner-dance will be held at Valley View Farm for the exhibitors and their friends. This is one evening when dancing dominates horses.

Sunday a.m. we are "back in the saddle", and until the evening hours contestants are once again contesting for top money. Four grand champions will be named Sunday evening, and someone will return home with an "All-around" trophy and the thought of showing at the Triple R show next year at this time.

New Lenox Man Accorded Honor By Red Cross

Stanley T. Ekedahl, 235 E. Haven, New Lenox, is one of 13 Will county residents recently honored by American Red Cross for outstanding contribution to the community.

Ekedahl, who is employed by U.S. Gypsum company, Chicago, spent 393 1/2 hours during the past three years as a volunteer first aid instructor to win the certificate of appreciation conferred by the national organization.

Sidewalks Live Question Now At New Lenox

The sidewalk question which was discussed at the May meeting of the New Lenox village board came in for further discussion at the June meeting last Friday.

Incidentally this was the first meeting under the new schedule adapted last month. The first Friday of each month has been designated as meeting night for the board instead of the first Wednesday.

And had the meeting place been west of Cedar road instead of east it would have been called off because of darkness. The wind and electrical storm of Friday night left half of New Lenox without electric power and at midnight it was still off.

The Friday session was disrupted for a few minutes when a motorist rounding the corner on Church street off U.S. 30 to head south plowed into the side of the car of Trustee Don Anderson, parked almost half a block from Route 30. The motorist, George Poff, of 121 Michigan st., which is outside the village, was issued two tickets, one for driving while intoxicated and the other with improper lane usage. Poff failed a drunkometer test, according to the police report. The test was made for New Lenox police by Joliet police. Poff's reading was point 27 -- which is point 12 over the passing mark of point 15 police said.

School Supt. Arnold Tyler appeared before the board to inquire about the progress on the proposal to establish sidewalks along Have ave, Cedar st., leading to Oakview school for the benefit of school children. It was also suggested that walks be built to serve St. Jude's school and leading to the shopping center west of the village on U.S. 30.

Trustee Eugene Hunt said he was prepared to go to the state highway department for aid on the sidewalk question. He added there is a regulation now in force under which a community can apply motor fuel tax credits to sidewalk construction when it can be shown that pedestrians are forced to walk on busy streets and highways. Hunt stated that he believed that he believed the streets could go this year without maintenance other than patch by the village crew, which would make motor fuel tax money available for sidewalks.

The trustees were in general accord on such a plan but thought that inasmuch as sidewalks enhance the value of the property so served that the owners should bear a portion of the cost.

Trustee Robert Randolph who has been urging that if sidewalks are built they should be installed through the village was empowered to take a referendum, so to speak, by mail addressed to all property owners in New Lenox asking them to express their opinion.

Village Attorney William Penn explained that the cost could be borne as a whole or in part thru special assessment bonds. A board of local improvements retains someone to spread an assessment role, fixing the cost for each piece of property improved by a sidewalk. The roll is then filed in the county court where persons may file objections to the assessments. If the court finds the assessments equitable he approves the roll and the village can then issue special assessment bonds.

Penn pointed out, however, that this is an expensive way to finance an improvement, since special assessment bonds are difficult to sell and when a purchaser is found he generally demands a substantial discount.

To compensate for this the contractor is said to set his price high.

If a part of the cost was paid out of motor fuel tax and part of it paid by property owners putting the money up in escrow, it was believed such a system would reduce the cost.

The board is to meet again June 28 and hopes by that time that Randolph will have some figures or information to present relative to the public feeling on a sidewalk project.

The board is also planning to revise the building code to include industrial construction. John Warren is planning some industrial areas on the east fringe of the village. Trustee Chester Bowman, head of the committee on village planning and progress, is to gather material for such a revision of the code.

James Hearn is re-appointed village treasurer. He said that while he is a non-resident of New Lenox now he plans to move back into the village. Trustee Hunt had raised the question previously as to whether a non-resident could serve as a village employee. Told by the village attorney that while the statutes prescribed village residence the village board made its own regulations in such a situation, Hunt moved that Hearn be rehired as village treasurer.

L-W Board Awards Contracts For New Addition To School

Contracts have been awarded for the new addition to Lincoln-Way and they are well within the $750,000 bond issue approved by the voters last December.

There was a good response to the school board's request for bids. Seven general contractors submitted figures: eight plumbing contractors and a like number of heating and ventilating firms and seven electrical outfits sought the job.

The total cost, according to the bids awarded will come to $642,723. To this figure, of course, must be added the architects fee, which will be 6% of the cost, landscaping, school furniture etc., but well within the bond issue.

The bonds, incidentally, have been sold and the money invested until needed. It is estimated, according to Supt. A. Hunter Chapman, that the money will have earned approximately $20,000 for the district by the time any of it is needed.

The architects and high school board members were pleased with the number and the size of the bids. The architects figure the cost at $13,78 a square foot or 80 cents per cubic foot, which they say, is quite reasonable.

The bids were opened last Thursday night and the contracts awarded the next night, June 7, at the Lincoln-Way high school office where the board holds its sessions.

Burnside Construction Co., of Chicago Heights, was low bidder among the general contractor with a figure of $411,195. Poehner and Dillman, of Joliet, who are heating and ventilating people as well as plumbing contractors in both categories.

Their plumbing bid was $42,724 and the heating and ventilating is $134,647.

Thomas Reed and Son, Joliet, was low on the electrical work with a figure of $53,282. The bid was $62,374 with the inclusion of an alternate proposal to install outside lighting at the front of the building and for the parking lot. The board can still have the job included later, it was explained.

Work was to have begun this week. The Burnside people stated in their bid that they would do the job in 240 days which could make some of the addition ready about the time the second semester would begin, it was pointed out by school officials. The bids submitted were as follows:

Leroy M. Olson, of 231 Nebraska st., Frankfort, and a former teacher in the Frankfort grade school, has been named superintendent there to succeed LeRoy Wright, who resigned at the close of the 1962-63 school year to accept a post in the Bourbonnais school system.

Mr. Olson taught 8th grade and also served as basketball coach. He remained as a teacher at Frankfort until September, 1962 when he joined the school staff at Mt. Prospect. In the meantime he continued with his studies and in 1961 received his master's degree from INSU.

Mr. Olson and his wife, Lena have a daughter, Tammy, and two sons, Kimberley and Gregory.

of Frankfort this year that municipality would take in $36,054.28, according to figures received by Village Clerk Walter Pfaff from County Clerk Clara Hartley Woodard.

As far as is known no taxing body has ever scored a hundred percent collecting taxes. If Frankfort does it, the money would be allocated for the following uses:

General corporate, $7,717.04; garbage disposal, $4,195.97; police protection, $5,328.22; bonds and interest, $1,189.97; sewer bonds, $12,206; village share of the road and bridge tax imposed on the township, $5,417.

Mokena does have a garbage disposal a police protection tax, and since its valuation is less than Frankfort's its share of the road and bridge tax is less. Mokena would get $4,518.47 for general corporate purposes if it could just collect it all and $8,880.05 for sewer bonds. It's portion of the town road and bridge fund could be $3,828.15. The total amount Mokena could get in taxes, (real and personal) record shows is $17,226.67.

At New Lenox the general corporate tax could total $14,359.83 and the sewer bonds, $15,222.28; road and bridge, $6,252.78, for a total of $35,834.89.

One of the prime sources of income for municipalities now is the half-cent bite they get from the state sales tax. It is more than exceeds what they get for general corporate purposes, in most instances it was pointed out, and can be spent for any purpose a municipality wishes.

Mokena Youth Pays $131 For Fast Driving

John Selnik, 18, of 193rd street, Mokena, was fined on two charges in New Lenox police court Monday night as a result of his arrest last week.

He was fined $75 and assessed $8 costs on a charge of reckless driving and given a $40 fine and $8 costs for speeding after pleading guilty before Police Magistrate Ronald Whitaker, for a total of $131.

Whitaker termed Selnik's conduct as "wanton and without regard for the life or property of others."

Selnik was accompanied to court by his mother, Mrs. August Selnik, and arrangements made to pay the fines Tuesday.

He was recognized in the course of a chase the afternoon of June 5 and while he eluded police at that time by traveling in excess of 100 miles an hour, the report states.

New Lenox Police Officer George Cochran was on Cedar road, he said, when he saw a car traveling south on that street. The car was traveling fast and passed two cars on a grade near the Oakview school, almost causing an accident.

Cochran started in pursuit and Selnik turned east on Oak st. at high speed, the officer said, and then began looping thru residential thoroughfares at excess speed, finally getting back to Cedar road and heading north.

He skidded around the corner of Francis road and Cedar, broadside, the report states, and then disappeared in the direction of Mokena, traveling in excess of 100 miles an hour, Cochran stated.

Selnik was recognized and warrants obtained for his arrest.

be believed that they have done quite well and have built Father's Day into a very nice thing.

One wonders, however, if the timing is right. There may be a psychological value to run Father's Day in about a month after Mothers' Day. But what about father?

Can father afford to have a day at this time?

There was mothers' day in mid-May and before the month was out up popped the question of getting something for somebody's graduation, and on top of that June is quite a month for wedding gifts. How father is going to slip himself into the picture could be a problem.

Of course, there is the possibility that father has already taken care of himself in getting mother a present for her day—such as a boat, an outboard motor, a fishing rod, a superduper reel or a shotgun.

It is not likely that he bought mother a grill or had one built in the backyard because that means work for father. For some reason or other men who ordinarily couldn't boil water without burning it on a kitchen stove fancy themselves to be accomplished chefs in the out-of-doors. Show a man a charcoal blaze in the backyard, hand him a hotdog or a patty of ground beef and right away he becomes Oscar of the Waldorf.

There seems to be a compulsion about it that most men find impossible to resist. Show them a grill and they want to burn steaks. They know this so the wise husband ignores grills and hints for outdoor fireplaces. You don't catch him buying one, for instance for mother, who for some unfathomable reason wants one of the things. No sir, he gets mother something sensible like some new duck decoys or a high power rifle that to be fired without danger to human life should be taken out in some deserted section of Africa or the Rockies.

Mother, bless her heart, takes it quite calmly, because she has already ordered her gift for father's day, some new furniture, carpeting, an outside grill mission.

Crowley said that most single family heating customers' bills will be reduced by $1.25 to $1.75 a year, depending upon the size of the home.

The new rate schedules will lower the charges for all gas over 150 therms per month used by residential space heating customers and by small commercial general customers from 8.9 cents per therm to 8.7 cents. The new rates will benefit heating customers in their months of highest use and in cold winters, such as the last. They will also serve to promote greater usage of gas.

Crowley pointed out that NI-Gas' more than 800,000 customers are also currently benefiting from $4,800,000 of refunds and $2,200,000 of continuing rate reductions made recently by its pipeline suppliers.

William J. Crowley, NI-Gas vice president and comptroller, said that the filing was in line with the May 2 announcement by James W. Karber, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission.

Junior, who only now is permitted to operate the electric train father bought him when he was a child, can now buy father a cummerbund, a new tuxedo or the paraphernalia used in connection with skin diving.

Daughters may buy fathers formal gowns, purses, bikini bathing suits or an extra set of keys for the car so the dads can have their own in case the car isn't being used.

If father is a cigarette smoker he is quite likely to get a few cartons on his day, especially if the other members of the family also smoke cigarettes. This probably means that father will get a variety of brands, possibly including his own favorite.

If father is pipe smoker he will fare better if he warns the family off and buys the pipe he has been looking at, himself. He should also write out the name of the tobacco he wants and the same is true about cigars. Write the name plainly—better still print it. Make out several of these reminders and place them where they are sure to be seen, like on the switch of the TV set or sets; over the ignition lock on the car, the refrigerator (exterior and interior), the towel racks over the bathtub, or suspended from the rod that supports the shower curtain.

It is a good idea for father to also paper such spots with his sock size. It is a mysterious thing but somehow quite a few of the sox father gets turn out to be of a pattern and size more suitable for Junior than Senior.

Another nice thing to do is to see to it that the lawnmower is sharp so when father cuts the grass this Sunday the work will be easier for him.

But don't spoil him, don't say "Go on, play golf, go fishing, find a card game or get in a little sack duty."

The shock could be too much—especially this kind of weather.

Anyway, happy fathers' day to all the fathers.

Here's Explanation Of New Auto Insurance Law

If you own or operate one of the 3,800,000 registered automobiles in Illinois, you will want and need to read this story. Here are the details of a new system in which the casualty insurance industry and the State of Illinois are joining hands to provide protection against death or injury caused by the one driver out of 10 who drives without insurance in this state.

The new system, authorized under Senate Bill 360 which has been signed by Gov. Otto Kerner, becomes effective in Illinois on July 1. Under the new law, all automobile liability insurance policies henceforth written in this state must offer the insurance buyer protection against death or injuries wrongfully caused by a financial irresponsible driver.

Guided thru the Illinois General Assembly by Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston), sponsored by all major elements of the casualty industry and carrying the blessing of both fiscal and safety experts, the law inducts Illinois into a new era of protection against the traffic mishaps and traged-dies of a motorized society. State statistics disclose that 92.46 per cent of all automobiles registered in Illinois are covered by insurance. Thus the uninsured automobile category represents less than eight drivers out of every 100. The new system is designed to handle the problem created by this financially irresponsible fraction, even though mathematically such drivers comprise but a small proportion of all Illinois motorists.

The Illinois Insurance Information Service, public service arm of the 24 principal Illinois casualty companies which write the insurance on about three out of four private cars in this state, said the new system places Illinois in the ranks of the states most advanced in confronting the mounting problems of an accident-plagued society. The president of the information service, Darrell L. Achenbach, executive vice president of the County Insurance Companies of Bloomington, pointed out that the new law now makes mandatory measures which already had been taken on a voluntary basis by many Illinois casualty companies.

"Augmenting and supplementing the well-enforced Illinois Safety Responsibility Law which has been in effect for several years, the Arrington act provides a simple and workable answer to the problem of injuries or deaths caused by the financially irresponsible driver," Achenbach said.

"The free-enterprise insurance industry, especially our companies here in Illinois, do not believe in compulsory insurance even though its proponents would compel everyone by law to buy our services," he said. "The casualty industry has learned by frustrating experience of three states which experimented with compulsory insurance, that regimentation of automobile drivers doesn't work. The casualty industry does know, however, that uninsured motorist insurance does work and work well," Achenbach said.

Thomas F. Reynolds, general manager of the Illinois Insurance Information Service, explained how the new law affects the individual insurance buyer after July 1. Here is how the system works:

1. On and after July 1, every automobile liability insurance policy written in Illinois must include a section providing "standard" protection up to $10,000 - $20,000 for death and injuries wrongfully caused by an uninsured driver or an unapprehended hit-and-run driver. This is known as Uninsured Motorist or "UM" coverage.

2. The insurance buyer has full right to reject the "UM" section of his policy. But he must do so affirmatively. Unless he orders it out of the policy, he will automatically come under its protection.

3. Under standard UM coverage, the insurance which a driver buys to cover his liability for damage or injuries he himself might cause, is broadened to protect the driver also for death or injuries caused wrongfully by an uninsured driver. Thus, the coverage can pay up to $10,000 for a single death or injury or up to $20,000 for death or injuries to more than one person wrecked by a financially irresponsible driver.

Committee Kills Branch Banking Bill In State

The Illinois house banking committee has buried proposed legislation to legalize monopolistic branch banking in Illinois by a 28 to 4 vote.

This marks the third consecutive legislative session at which attempts to legalize branch banking have been defeated overwhelmingly in the banking committee.

The vote followed lengthy hearings at which representatives of the big Chicago Loop banks carrying on the campaign for branching, urged they needed branches to expand and grow.

The Illinois Bankers Association, expressing the views of more than 90% of the banks

The coverage, moreover, protects passengers in the car of the insured driver, and even extends to the insured and members of his immediate family if they are killed or injured wrongfully by an uninsured driver while on foot -- as, for instance, a child en route to school.

4. Because the casualty industry is highly competitive, and companies are vying for public service, the cost of basic uninsured motorist insurance varies somewhat from company to company. The cost however, is among the lowest on the automobile coverage price list, usually ranging in Illinois between $2 and $4 per year. The casualty insurance industry views these rates as the greatest bargain for the buyer in the insurance catalogue, when viewed in the light of potential benefits, Reynolds said.

6. UM coverage does NOT protect the insured driver against the consequences of accidents of his own making. The coverage becomes operative only when the insured driver is the wronged victim of an uninsured driver. The coverage, moreover, provides recompense for death and injuries only, not for property damage caused by the uninsured driver. The state and the casualty industry presume that property damage of the insured driver is covered by his own collision insurance.

The Illinois Insurance Information Service pointed out that the Arrington act now supplements the Illinois Safety Responsibility Law. This law requires that a written report of every accident be filed with the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings on any accident involving death, injuries or damage of $100 or more. At the same time drivers of all cars involved in the accident must file proof they were protected in limits up to $10,000-$20,000, for death or injury and $5,000 for property damage at the time of the accident. If any driver does not have such insurance protection, he must furnish bond or post securities equal to those amounts to be kept in force for the ensuing three years.

This law applies to drivers in all accidents involving death, injury or $100 damage whether the other driver was clearly at fault or not. It has been and continues to be rigidly policed in Illinois. The Illinois Insurance Information Service said.

In the state, testified that branch banking is against the public interest because it would lead to greater concentration of financial power and a reduction in competition.

J. Ross Humphreys, president of the IBA, praised the committee for once more resisting the "power grab" of monopoly-minded banks.

George Dolezel (R.) of Berwyn, chairman of the house banking committee, indicated that the committee has given careful analytical consideration to the issue and had "acted consistently with our responsibility as representatives of the people."

Humphreys, president of the Central National Bank in Chicago declared in his testimony last week that "community-owned, community-managed banks would be swallowed up by giant branch banking systems if the proposed legislation were approved."

He pointed out that the community bank is more interested in small depositors and small and medium-size businesses than a branch system.

"The percent banking system has contributed significantly to the economic and industrial leadership of Illinois," Humphreys said. "Illinois has had more new banks opened than any other state except Texas and there is vigorous competition within banking."

Vocational Agriculture And FFA Builds Citizens

BY ROBERT VAN RHEEDEN
(LWHS Vo-Ag, Instructor)
Public schools have one primary aim -- to develop good citizens.
Vocational Agriculture programs aid in accomplishing this aim through purposeful education, building self-reliance and developing leadership.
The students home farming program in connection with his agriculture courses at Lincoln-Way High School gives students a chance to acquire success experiences as they produce some type of crop or livestock project. The educational responsibility of caring for and managing these projects encourages students to learn managerial abilities applicable to farming or off-farm agricultural occupations.
Last year, vocational agriculture students at Lincoln-Way high school produced crops and livestock valued at $65,500 with a net profit of $13,750. They learn practical business management while learning to manage their land, labor and capital to make the maximum profit. These experiences help build self-reliance and teach management abilities valuable in farming or off-farm occupations.

The Future Farmers of America, an integral part of the vocational agriculture program affords students opportunities to learn and use Parliamentary Procedure, public speaking techniques, and other abilities necessary for one to become a leader in society.
Each year the Lincoln-Way FFA Chapter members form parliamentary teams to learn parliamentary procedure. They learn to conduct meetings in an orderly and democratic manner, whether the meeting is an FFA meeting, student council meeting, or a farm meeting.

Lincoln-Way FFA Chapter forms a chapter Parliamentary team which competes with other schools to see who can conduct a meeting with the most skill and perfection. During the past seven years, Lincoln-Way FFA Chapter has won the championship banner five years in Section 8 competition. Section 8 includes 18 schools in the five surrounding counties of this area.
Students also have an opportunity to develop their public speaking ability. In the past seven years, Lincoln-Way has been the first or second place school in the Section 8 FFA Speech contest. They have gone on to District II competition on each occasion and have participated in the State FFA Speech contest after winning the District II.
These are but a few ways in which Lincoln-Way High School vocational agriculture department and the Lincoln-Way FFA Chapter are meeting their obligations to the people of the community in providing training to develop competent leaders and citizens of tomorrow no matter what their future occupation may be.

ment and the Lincoln-Way FFA Chapter are meeting their obligations to the people of the community in providing training to develop competent leaders and citizens of tomorrow no matter what their future occupation may be.

Brief Biography of Pope John

(Editor's Note: The official period mourning for Pope John XXIII is almost at an end but he will be remembered thru the years to come as one of the best loved in the long line of popes and his passing is truly mourned by millions.

A brief biography of Pope John is carried here but it would take a thick volume to really bring his image into anything like proper focus.

On June 19, the College of Cardinals will begin its session at which a new pontiff will be elected.

-o-

Pope John XXIII was born Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli, third of 13 children of Mr. and Mrs. John Roncalli, in Sottoil Monte, Italy, Nov. 25, 1881. He began his studies for the priesthood at the age of 11, developed from an average to a good student, and before he was ordained Aug. 10, 1904, had received a laureate in theology degree from Cerasola College in Rome.

For nine years after his ordination, from 1905 to 1914, Father Roncalli was secretary to Bishop Radini-Tedeschi of the diocese of Bergamo. At the same time he taught at the Bergamo seminary.

During World War I, Father Roncalli served with the medical corps of the Italian army and, following it, in 1921 was named a domestic prelate with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor and was appointed president of the Italian Society for the Propagation of the Faith until 1925.

He was name apostolic visitor to Bulgaria then and in March 19 of that year was consecrated Archbishop of Areopolis.

He served in Bulgaria until 1935, when he was transferred to the titular archbishopric of Mesembria and named apostolic administrator of the Latin Vicariate Apostolic of Constantinople, where he remained during the years of World War II.

During this time, he worked closely with the Vatican Information Bureau of Prisoners of War and Refugees, helping both Jews and Christians fleeing Nazi persecution. He was also instrumental in relieving some of the starvation in Greece before and during the War.

Named apostolic nuncio to Paris, Archbishop Roncalli arrived there on the last day of 1944, facing resentment by Free French officials at church toleration of the ousted Vichy government. He made peace with Gen. Charles De Gaulle, visited all but two of France's 87 dioceses and worked to save the worker-priest movement.

During his stay in France, Archbishop Roncalli was named in 1951 Rome's first permanent observer to the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). The following year, on Nov. 29, he was made a cardinal and was decorated by the French government as a commander of the Legion of Honor.

Two months later, at the death of the Patriarch of Venice, Cardinal Roncalli was named to succeed him.

During his time there, he renovated the ancient basilica of St. Mark and his residence, personally visited every parish, organized instructions in Christian doctrine, convoked a synod and began building a seminary.

He continued to be called upon by Rome for special missions, such as in October, 1954, when he served as papal legate to the Marian year congress in Beirut, Lebanon, and in March 1958, when he consecrated the new underground Basilica of St. Plus X at Lourdes.

When Pope Plus XII died October 9, 1958, Cardinal Roncalli left for Rome with word that he expected to return to Venice within 15 days. But instead, on Oct. 28, 1958, he was presented to the world as the new Pope.

From the first, Pope John showed he would not be satisfied to be the "interim" pope many had predicted he would be; he began to put to work a program which revolved around four objectives-internal renewal of the Catholic church, achievement of Christian unity, promotion of world peace and advancement of social justice.

Carrying out these objectives was accomplished in a number of precedent-shattering moves, such as increasing the number in the College of Cardinals from 70 to 85 (and nominating the first negro, Japanese and Filipino cardinals), working actively to promote unity between Christians and convoking the second vatican council to renew in the Church the spirit of Christ.

Other, smaller things he did set him apart from recent popes, too, such as abandoning the practice of eating alone for every meal, visiting occasionally outside the Vatican a children's hospital, the Rome City prison, shrines of Assisi and Loreto just before the beginning of the Vatican Council.

In his four years as pope, John XXIII composed seven encyclicals, the first name "Ad Petri Cathedram" (To the Chair of Peter), issued June 29, 1959, which appealed for Christian unity and renewed efforts for world peace.

The second, marking the centenary of the death of St. John Vianney, dealt with the priestly life. "Grata Recordatio," (Grateful Memory), in September of that year, urged Catholics to pray for the guidance of the Pope, for the success of missionaries and the Christian apostolate, peace among nations success of the Roman synod and of the Vatican Council.

A fourth encyclical issued in 1959 urged increased recruiting and training of priest and lay missionaries, and asked Catholics in mission areas to take active part in public life.

Many believe the two greatest pronouncements of Pope John's reign were the encyclicals Mater et Magistra (Mother and Teacher), issued July 14, 1961, and Pacem in Terris (Peace on Earth), April 10, 1963.

The former commemorated Pope Leo XIII's historic "Rerum Novarum," and like it dealt with social problems of the age. In 25,000 words Pope John outlined four problems and their solutions; the

COOK COUNTY FARM ADVISER
TINLEY PARK 532-4369
Pre-emergence herbicides have become increasingly popular for controlling early weeds in Cook county. Many of our local farmers are using them, but "when to cultivate after pre-emergence applications", is a common question. The best method and time for cultivation depends on the specific situation. Ask yourself these questions: "What herbicide was used?" - "Was there enough rain for the chemical to work?"

- "Is it dry enough to cultivate?" Odds are about three-to-one that pre-emergence herbicides will do a satisfactory job, but they can fail, especially when not enough rain falls to move them into the soil. The chemical is controlling weeds - don't rush cultivation of the treated area. However, if for some reason the herbicide is not killing weeds, better not wait too long to start cultivating.
Remember! If you can't cultivate because it's too wet, and the chemical is controlling weeds well, be thankful that you used it. If the chemical isn't working, weeds are growing, and it is dry enough, --- cultivate! Don't wait!

SHORT AND SWEET

dow of a newly opened store

Each year, side-dressing corn with nitrogen gains more popularity. This method is not necessarily better than plowing under, or broadcasting before planting. Each way has its advantages. Personal preference available equipment, convenience and cost, will probably determine which method works the best for you. You may want to consider side-dressing your corn if you did not apply enough nitrogen before, or at planting.

High producing dairy cows are extremely hard working animals. High temperature can limit the amount of work they do, especially if dairymen don't provide some type of shade during hot weather. University of Illinois research shows that dairy cattle on short pastures and no shade had body temperatures as high as 109 degrees on hot mid-summer days and milk production dropped severely.

Don't forget Agronomy Day at the University of Illinois South Farm, on June 20! You will see research on new oat varieties; all-out "corn and wheat yields" alfalfa varieties;
new disease resistant soybeans and corn hybrids; yellow-dwarf and other oat diseases; corn viruses; corn relatives; development of the corn plant; lawn care; wheat varieties; insect outlook; plant-pick tillage; weed competition studies; and many others. On July 1, there will be a Field Day at the DeKalb Agronomy research center near Shelton. This tour starts at 1:30 p.m. This tour will feature new oat varieties, disease-resistant soybeans, new fertilizer practices, lawn care, alfalfa varieties, and many other research projects. These are just two of the many services which the University of Illinois College of Agriculture offers to farmers in the state.

This may sound funny in these days of corn hybrids, but I have had a request for some open pollinated corn varieties. Dr.
D. E. Alexander, corn breeder in the Agronomy Department University of Illinois, wants to use some of these open pollinated varieties in some first-rate studies that can advance modern corn breeding. The trouble is, that he has no seed!
Therefore, I would be interested in hearing from anyone who has been growing and maintaining seed of any of the old open pollinated varieties, like: Krug, Ried's Yellow Dent, etc. If you have any of these varieties, or know of anyone who does,
please let me know.
